

The 10th FIDE World Cup in Composing

Section D – Studies

Preliminary award by

Ilham Aliev

MMXXII

I have received 37 anonymous studies from Director.

First, I would like to make a small remark to some authors who are happy to put many exclamation marks in the solution of the study, trying to attract the attention of the judge.

In 2008 in Antalya (Turkey), the European Chess Solving Championship was held, where the chief referee was the late Milan Velimirovic (Serbia), and I was his assistant. When writing answers to tasks, Agshin Masimov (Azerbaijan) put two or even three exclamation marks for many moves. Milan reprimanded him, warning that he would give 0 points if he continued in the same spirit. Although A. Masimov did not do it anymore, he can't break this "tradition" in Azerbaijan championships...

In this Cup, there were enough such "heroes" whose exclamation marks I had to clean.

Attracting the attention of lovers of exclamation marks with this humor, I would like to explain: these marks, to my great regret, except for the annoyance of the judges, do not add beauty to the studies (but just really beautiful studies are undoubtedly an adornment of any competition).

Traditionally, let's start with some studies that were not included in the award:

2) Anticipations:

D3 (=, ♜e5-♜h5, 3+6) – best version of this scheme: V. Zamanov & L. M. Gonzalez, ChessStar 2021, 3rd prize,

D12 (+, ♜f8-♜h8, 5+4). H. Aloni and Y. Aloni, 1st Prize Israel Ring TY Haproblemai, 1977 (4QKNk/4P3/8/2q4p/5n1P/8/8/8).

D33 (+, ♜d7-♜f7, 6+3) – V. Kovalenko. 2.c Shakhmatnaya Kompozitsia, 1997 (8/6k1/3K3R/8/8/2R5/N4P2/q7) and O. Sakharov, Shakhmaty v SSSR, 1988 (K7/8/2p4k/8/1R4R1/8/2q2P2/8)

3) Another reasons:

D6 (+, ♜f5-♜g2, 3+5) – cute Rook study but maybe too simple for such tourney. A play must be complete on 12th move (author completed on 14th) because there are many duals further.

D8 (=, ♜h5-♜b8, 7+7) – the idea is processed repeatedly. Also: a play must be complete on 11th move (author completed on 16th) because there are many duals in moves of White King.

D9 (+, ♜h3-♜g1, 5+4) – unlucky introduction with capture of passive Queen and a changing of pieces.

D21 (=, ♜a1-♜a5, 4+6) – rude introduction is added to a final that is well-known (A. Mouterde, La Strategie, 1916, 8/3B4/8/8/1k6/pr6/K7; D. Djaja, 1966, 8/8/8/1B6/N7/1k6/p6r/K7) and is processed by many authors earlier.

D25 (=, ♜f7-♜f5, 5+3) – pretty but in such little-pieces-position a capture of passive Queen is a big shortcoming.

D26 (+, ♜d8-♜e6, 9+15) – a grotesque with foresight but with non-interesting and rude play.

D28 (+, ♜g3-♜h6, 9+5) – two promotions in Kheight but captures of two passive pieces spoils a play. The play must be complete on 9th move because there is a dual 10. ♜g7+.

D30 (+, ♜h8-♜f7, 8+9) – bad first move.

D34 (+, ♜g1-♜d8, 3+8) – in comparison to short study of L. Kubbel (150 Endspielstudien, 1925), active sacrifice of Queen is replaced with passive the one but instead of it 19-moves-maneuevers of Queen all over the board were added. In any other tourney, I maybe would give a distinction for this study but in the Cup I wanted more originality. Moreover, I did not like the moves of White Queen on h7 with duals but some judges don't consider such moves as duals.

D36 (+, ♜a1-♜h4, 9+6) – passive White Knight, many technical pieces... This is more a scheme than a study.

D37 (=, ♜g2-♜b8, 8+6) – The idea of drawing the black queen into a trap is interesting, but it did not make a good introduction.

4) Studies that can give distinctions in another tourneys:

D4 (=, ♜h6-♜d3, 6+7)

D17 (=, ♜h5-♜c7, 4+5)

D19 (+, ♜h1-♜h8, 8+10)

D20 (+, ♜b6-♜c4, 6+2)

D22 (=, ♜d4-♜a1, 6+10)

D23 (+, ♜e5-♜f7, 6+6)

D27 (=, ♜d1-♜b6, 3+4).

I congratulate prizewinners and wish new creative successes!

Logical study with multiple sacrifices and counter-sacrifices. Before putting a Knight (that is under attack) into play, the White via intermediate check do not allow Black King to block wPd6 (position X1 and position X2).

After 15-moves-combinational introduction, a position-scheme of E. Pogosyants (1976) appears. In contradistinction to “anticipation”, here the Black Knight is promoted. We can say that a simple three-mover-scheme has been turned into a beautiful study, like an ugly duckling – into a nice swan.

Logical study with sacrifices of three Rooks, two of which ( $Rc7$  and  $Rb7+$ ) are especially stand out for the beauty. Via the sacrifices of Rook on 6th move, the White forces a Black King to move on  $b7$  and achieves a draw (because with  $bKb6$  Black wins). After nice introduction, the play smoothly transitions to the second part with a positional draw and a constant refusal to capture the black  $h7$ -pawn.

11-fold mechanism for a passing turn to opponent goes together with an activation of White Pawn that via self-sacrifice brings Black Pawn on the right line.

The mechanism runs until Black runs out of Pawn moves, and he is forced to advance his Pawn to the lethal  $f2$ -square, after which the  $d4$ -square is blocked, from where the White Queen delivers a fatal blow.

An author ends a solution by 22... $f2$  but I lengthened it by 18 moves and “unfreezed” Pawns  $g6$  and  $g7$ .

After closing a b-file, the Black Queen is ready to sacrifice himself to save Black king from checkmate. Rejection of the sacrifice of Queen and Knight, Phoenix theme, two stalemate traps with a pin of Pawn and Knight. Having avoided stalemate traps, White strikes the last blow with the sacrifice of Bishop and with two promotions in Knights.

Model mate by four knights with two self-blocks.

In the first part of Knight endgame, there is an amusing struggle between Kings for the corresponding squares, with numerous positions of mutual zugzwang. After getting an opposition, White King manages to break through a Black defense and reach his passed Pawn b7. After that, the baton passes to White Knight, which, having destroyed the dangerous Black Pawn, puts an end to the game. White King visited three corners of the chessboard in solution and attempts.

White Pawns, in the fight against Black queen, moving forward in turn and preventing stalemate traps, win with two underpromotions. Thanks to the interaction of promoted pieces with the King, White still manages to promote one of the pawns to Queen. Difficult technical variations spoil the impression a bit.

Mutual zugzwangs with a positional draw. The critical moment of the study occurs on the 5th move. Which pawn White Rook should attack: vertically to c4 or horizontally to b6? If b6, then Black King wins, using an “umbrella” and hiding behind the opponent's Pawn from opponent's Rook.

In the final position, Black King cannot enter the game and Rook is unable to escape from the Pawn “confinement”! This Rook study is useful for practitioners.
